

Dr Christian Ott, Nephrologist and Assistant Professor of Medicine,
Friedrich-Alexander University (FAU)

Christian Ott is a nephrologist and Assistant Professor of Medicine at the Friedrich-Alexander University (FAU) of Erlangen-Nürnberg, Germany. He has long-standing research interest on vascular medicine. He successfully conducted clinical studies, both interventional and observational studies focusing on vascular structure and function in large and small arteries under different metabolic / pathophysiologic conditions. He published more than 70 articles in peer-reviewed journals and book chapters on hypertension and its target organ damage. In addition, he is member of the executive committee of DeGAG and Council Member of the ARTERY Society.